Great Western Air Ambulance Charity (GWAAC) provide the critical care and air ambulance service for 2.1 million people across the counties of Bristol, Bath and North East Somerset, South Gloucestershire, Gloucestershire, North Somerset and surrounding areas. They attend the most critical incidents across the region by helicopter or by one of their critical care cars. When someone is seriously ill or injured time is of the essence, and they need expert help fast. The GWAAC Critical Care Team consists of a highly trained and experienced Pilot, a Specialist Paramedic in Critical Care and a Critical Care Doctor. The crew specialise in Pre-Hospital Emergency Medicine and Trauma Medicine, bringing the skills and expertise of an Emergency Department to the patient.

In 2018 the Critical Care Team attended 1,887 jobs: by helicopter and by one of their critical care cars, their busiest year to date. On average they attend 5 incidents every day, but some days it's many more. As a charity they need to raise over £3 million each year to stay operational, but receive no day to day funding from the Government or National Lottery. This means they rely on the generosity of their donors and supporters to keep flying.
